

The Use of Clothes Drying Racks at Atrium Towers Apartments

In all Apartment complex Body Corporate Rules, there is explicit reference where balconies are not be used to hang clothes for the drying (airing) of clothing; the real intent of this rule is that no washing is to be on public display. This is the case for Atrium Towers Apartments.

The Body Corporate request that clothes air drying racks are placed well back into living rooms so they remain unseen form the street. Similarly for the same reasoning, any clothing is not to be hung in any of the apartment's windows.

The Body Corporate do trust that you understand that these rules are in place to maintain the aesthetics, quality and desirability as a place to live for all residents, whilst setting a good impression for those that are being shown the property as future owners or tenants.
